

To whomever it may concern:

I am interested in applying my multidisciplinary background and editorial experience in an exciting and challenging position at Cornerstone. Music has always been a passion of mine and I hope to dedicate all my energy towards it.

I am the editor for Empire Taste, a music consulting service that has collaborated with A$AP Mob, Saba and Chiddy Bang—among others. In that role, I setup interviews with artists, managed a staff of writers, and wrote editorials on the arts. These provide a framework to understand how the music industry works and how to interact with clients and customers. As an editorial intern at the Asian American Workshop, I have firsthand experience on collaborating with award-winning authors.

As co-director of the Asian Pacific American Coalition and VP-External of the Taiwanese American Students Club, I had to organize events for 1000+ students and manage multiple boards. This was a great exercise in refining my ability to manage multiple groups of people and juggle many tasks at once.

I hope to bring these experiences and background and apply it at a role I feel passionate about. I can be reached by cell at 630-935-5262 and by email at alexwen1738@gmail.com. Looking forward to hearing back!

Sincerely,

Alex Wen
